New Art. New Artists

Pure Gallery is proud to introduce the art of M&I Garmash to the Central PA area. Yes, it's two people who collaborate on each piece of art. And what a story it is!

*Several years after their marriage, Mr. Garmash began a painting of their two-year old daughter, Polina, for a project at school. However, Polina found the painting during her father's absence and decided to embark upon her own artistic career. Ms. Garmash, after seeing what her daughter had done and not wanting her husband to be upset, fixed the painting using her own training, packed it up and gave it to him for submission. Mr. Garmash submitted the painting for review and was praised for completing his best work ever. He was surprised to see the "new" painting and immediately recognized his wife's hand. They have painted together every since.

Included images are 'Ocean for Two' and 'A Walk on the Beach' both by M&I Garmash. 'A Walk on the Beach' was featured in The July issue of Western Interiors.

Note: Private appointments are available.

For the Office.

Here is 'Justice for All', a print from Rod Chase who's photorealistic series of Washington, DC has been concluded. Rod is now taking on New York for the next series. These prints are small and can be placed in many of those hard-to-fill locations in your offices, maybe above those pesky light switches or in a hallway. Others in the series are available if you are interested. We will be happy to drop by your office location for an art consultation or to pick up those certificates you have been meaning to frame.

If you buy art in your travels this summer, we will be happy to frame your memories so they last a lifetime!

Sculpture.

We are showcasing another of the Govinder figures this month. 'Twins' is a two-piece sculpture of cats; one good and one evil. It's a very engaging piece and because it's a limited edition, it is therefore very affordable.
